FEAST OF PASSOVER BEGINS TO-MORROW

Beginning this year on Monday at sundown, and lasting for one week, the annual Feast of Passover or of Unleavened Bread will be celebrated in Jewish homes and synagogues. This, the oldest feast of the Jewish calendar, goes back well nigh 4000 years. The awakening of spring has always been a symbol of freedom to every primitive people. The agricultural aspect of this holiday is seen in the phrase, "That it is to be kept in the season of the month of barley when the barley is in the field and when an offering consisting of an ounce (one-half gallon) of barley was brought in gratitude to the giver of all good.

The historical significance of the festival has overshadowed its agricultural aspect. As the feast of freedom it commemorates the emancipation of Israel from Egyptian bondage and his entrance into the dignity and freedom of national life. It thus marks the birth of the Hebrew people, and the first Commonwealth. Here 2,000,000 people walked forth as free citizens without a drop of blood having been spilt or a sword unsheathed. The main characteristic of its celebration has always been domestic. In the homes the families and the invited friends gather on the first and second evenings to recount in song and story and amid appropriate symbolism the deliverance of Israel.

The main symbol of this Easter Service are the roasted lamb bone, reminding them of the lamb which Israelite slaughtered as a sacrifice of the covenant; second, the Mazzah or unleavened bread to be eaten during the whole week, recalling not only the hasty preparation with which they hurried out of Egypt, but also their absolute reliance upon God and readiness to trust in His leadership of them; and the bitter herbs suggesting vividly the bitter life of their forefathers in Egypt, which, even today, have not lost their pungent application. Two other symbols of the festival are the four cups of wine, and the fourfold phrase in which God couched the first "Declaration of dependence," and the cup of wine meant for the prophet Elijah, who always present in spirit, brought ever anew the message of undying hope of the Messianic reign of universal justice, freedom and peace. The Feast of the Passover has not lost its thrilling significance to the modern Jew. To those still pining in slavery in Russia and Roumania, it sings the song of ultimate redemption, while to those living under the blessed flag of freedom it teaches the ceaseless lesson of gratitude, together with an appreciation of the higher civic duties and responsibilities of constitutional liberty.

Services at Beth Ahabah Synagogue will begin at 6:30 o'clock on Monday evening and at 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Rabbi E. N. Callish, Ph. D., will preach at the Tuesday morning service on the topic "A Modern Exodus."

Indigestion Is Poison

Thousands of men and women are suffering from diseases caused by food decayed in their stomachs. This causes dangerous poison gases, which makes the breath unbearable, poisons the blood, deadens the brain, shatters the nerves. The evil effects of indigestion and dyspepsia are too well known to be dilated upon. The new remedy for these troubles is a natural and harmless one called "Digestit"—little tablets that contain all the ingredients necessary to digest food. A couple of "Digestit" tablets will digest all the food in your stomach, kill the poisonous gases, make you feel fine. It has relieved thousands. Their own statements are proof. You can try it for yourself. Your money will be refunded if "Digestit" fails—50c. Ask at any drug store.

SMALL VERDICT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Miss Lucy Bugg, Who Claimed $10,000 From Street Car Company, Gets $750.

HURT CHRISTMAS-EVE NIGHT

Court Later to Hear Defense on Question of Instructions to Jury.

In the Law and Equity Court yesterday, the jury which has been hearing the damage suit for $10,000 brought by Miss Lucy Bugg against the Virginia Railway and Power Company, returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $750.

The jury took the case on Friday afternoon, deliberating for an hour without agreeing on a verdict, and was again out for two hours yesterday morning. Counsel for the defense moved to set it aside as contrary to law and evidence, and because of misdirection by the court. Judge Crump stated that while the plaintiff had not put on many witnesses, and while the defense made a strong case, nevertheless the jury had a right to believe the plaintiff's evidence if it so saw fit, and that he could not set the verdict aside on the ground that it was contrary to the evidence. He added however that he would hear argument at a later date if counsel for the defense so desired. The question as to whether or not the jury was properly instructed, will be on trial all week.

The case had been on trial all the week. Miss Bugg, who lived on Church Hill, and was employed at the Virginia Railway and Power Company, was injured after midnight on December 24, 1910, at Thirteenth and Main Streets, when an automobile in which she was traveling westward through Main collided with a Main Street car, owned by the Virginia Railway and Power Company. She was occupying the back seat in the automobile, and received injuries for which she entered suit. The evidence was rather conflicting, some witnesses testifying that the street car was running at high speed while others testified that it was not. Witnesses for the defense said that the automobile, which was driven by a young business man, who did not enter suit, turned in front of the street car so suddenly that a collision could not be avoided.

Miss Bugg, who is under twenty-one years of age, sued through her father, S. S. P. Patterson being her attorney. She alleged that the shock threw her out of the car, and that she received permanent injuries.

NEW CHURCH FOR CHESTNUT HILL

Ascension Episcopal Congregation Soon to Erect Handsome Structure.

From a very humble beginning, only a decade ago, the Ascension Episcopal Church of Chestnut Hill, has steadily grown, so rapidly that it has become necessary, for the second time in ten years, to rebuild on a larger scale. It was through the instrumentality of some good women of the Monumental Episcopal Church that the Ascension Church had its beginning; these women organized and conducting a Sunday school that met at first in the Northside Hall.

The result of this simple beginning is the movement for a new $20,000 church to be erected on the corner of Fourth Avenue and Custer Street, a movement which has the cordial approval of Bishop Gibson, the clergy of Henric parish, and Richmond Episcopalians. Some months ago, the vestry sold the old church and lot, and purchased a site for the new building on Fourth Avenue, and immediately went to work on the plans. The edifice to be erected will be built on a plan suggested by the Church of the Good Shepherd, of Forest Hill, and will have a main auditorium with seats for 225 people, and a basement room for the Sunday school.

If the Richmond congregations respond in the generous manner expected, the building committee anticipates laying the corner-stone on Ascension Day, May 16. The building committee, composed of James C. Bowman, D. Paul Radford and S. M. Gibson, who the Rev. James E. Pindexter is the rector.

A few years after the opening of a Sunday school in the Northside Hall, the school had grown to such size that it was found advisable to build, and a little chapel was erected on the corner, between First and Second Streets, which was christened Ascension Church, at the suggestion of the Rev. D. F. Sprigg, D. D. Up until June 1, 1907, when the Rev. James E. Pindexter came as rector, services in the chapel were conducted by Dr. Sprigg, Mr. Knight and Archdeacon Moncreaf.

Of the 2,000 people of Chestnut Hill and Highland Park there are six hundred families who are Episcopalians. Through the efforts of the organizers of the little chapel, forty or more families have been brought into affiliation with the Ascension Church. There are now about fifty communicants on the rolls of the church, and the work is steadily growing.

News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau, The Times-Dispatch, 1009 Hull Street.

Jumping the track and running for half a block over the cobblestones, car No. 45 of the Hull Street line of the Virginia Railway and Power Company, yesterday afternoon at 1:35 o'clock crashed into a high-board fence along Seventh Street between Main and Main Streets, and the fence was demolished. A window on the side of the car was broken and the fender bent.

The car, in charge of Motorman E. H. Spangler, was coming from Richmond at a low rate of speed—about four miles an hour, according to several passengers. Without warning it left the tracks and crossed its way down the street. Spangler saved the power and put on the brakes, but was unable to check the car before it hit the fence.

The car was crowded. The conductor's list showed a total of thirty-five passengers, several of them women. The front and rear platforms were filled, but as the car was going at such a slow rate nobody attempted to jump, and consequently no one was hurt.

Car Strikes Wagon. George Brooks, living on the Midlothian Turnpike, about four miles from South Richmond, was slightly injured last night at 7 o'clock when a buggy driven by him was struck by northbound car No. 45, of the Hull Street line, at Eleventh and Hull Streets.

Brooks and a friend, Charles Fritz, both intoxicated, according to a report made at the Third Police Station, were attempting to cross the tracks in front of the approaching car. When the vehicle was hit Brooks was thrown and landed on the fender of the car. He was picked up and carried to a nearby store. The city ambulance in charge of Dr. Hatcher was called. Brooks refused to allow the doctor to dress his wounds. He called for his family physician, Dr. Rucker, who rendered the necessary attention. The man was taken to his home. His injuries are not serious.

In their first practice game of the season the White Sox, representing South Richmond in the Class B League, of the Richmond Amateur Association, yesterday went down in defeat before the Southern Bell team, of the Capital City League—a Class A organization. The score, 4 to 7, is encouraging to the boys, showing that they have a hard hitting team.

The honors of the game rest on the shoulders of Pitcher, of the White Sox, who in six innings struck out seven men and only allowed one hit. The batteries were: Southern Bell, Wagner, French and Turner; White Sox, Gentry, Rice and Liveray; Empire, Mr. Morgan.

FRESHET DOES LITTLE DAMAGE

About three feet below the high water mark of two weeks ago, James River rose yesterday afternoon over the docks of the Old Dominion Steamship Company, flooded old Lester Street, the site of the new city wharves, and the flats below the city on both sides. Ample warning had been given and but little damage was done.

The maximum rise was placed at fifteen feet, and was reached about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, after which the water began slowly to recede. Normal conditions will be resumed within twenty-four hours.

Although a little water rose in Cary Street, between Fifteenth and Seventeenth, traffic was not interrupted. The alley between Main and Cary, Fifteenth and Seventeenth, was flooded for half its length, and water rose in cellars of stores fronting on Main Street in the vicinity of the Chesapeake and Ohio Station. Few, if any, of the merchants had placed goods in the cellars since the recent freshet, so that there was little to be moved when the warnings were issued, and practically no damage was done.

The Old Dominion has cleared its lower wharves of all perishable goods. With water surrounding it on every side, the long earth embankment and new concrete arch bridge which form a part of the proposed new highway to Fulton, stood out prominently, well above high water, giving the promise that within a few months an ample roadway above the highest floods will be opened to traffic along the water front.

Some apprehension was felt among the owners of motorboats on the river. The bright weather of the past week had induced many owners to put into the water pleasure boats which have been out for repairs and safekeeping during the winter, and the old Triggs slip is well filled with all manner of small craft. A careful watch was kept, however, and no damage was reported.
